Customer Reviews

Etsy is a fantastic venue for selling custom goods. Running an Etsy shop is just like any other online store, which means it is also just like any other method of selling. What makes Etsy different is that you are selling products that usually do not fill any immediate need a customer has; a customer does not need shoes made out of recycled leather, or earrings made from parrot feathers. I learned many useful tips and tricks from this book that would help me to run a successful online store on Etsy. It helped me to know how to market for my product on Etsy, how to convince a customer to buy my product and it is the best, naming a price for my product, and many more. It was a very helpful book.
