Jack McAfghan: Reflections On Life With My Master

Synopsis

Written from beyond Rainbow Bridge, the canine Jack reveals secrets to living a life full of love as well as methods of coping with life after loss. As he teaches what to expect during the grieving process, he gently guides the reader from grief into healing.Â Once you learn how to do it, what you have learned can be applied to every two-legged and four-legged relationship in your life for as long as you live.Â Â Â Â Â Jack McAfghan shares the memoirs of his four-legged life as a mixed-breed Afghan Hound. This love story reveals the depth of eternal love between a dog and its master. Jack's words and wisdom will comfort, inform and support those who are in the process of training a dog, grieving over the loss of a friend or learning to love again. He reveals the possibilities that exist in life and after death.Â Â Â Â Â Jack leads us to a higher love while also teaching the art of letting go. He does this byÂ extending himself to every creature of the earth, every human on the planet, every spirit in the universe and most of all, to the bona fide Master over all.

Where do I begin? I was lost in all consuming grief for my cat Splodge as well as some very close family members (Mum and Brother). It felt like I had been left all alone and was desperately struggling to come to terms with what had happened to me. While I was posting about my loss and grief on Facebook a very kind lady by the name of "Kate McGahan" contacted me and invited me to join her grief group called Heart to Heart. Once I joined I was made aware of Jack's book which I promptly purchased and read from cover to cover in the space of a day! This book was a life changer for me! It has been written in such a way that I defy you not to connect with it and link it to your own personal story. Jack teaches you that passing over is not the end, far from it. It changed the way I looked at everything in such a magical way that my perception of death completely changed as I worked my way through those pages. I still miss my loved ones both 2 and 4 legged and I now understand that the missing them never stops because the loving them never stops. What is more important is I now know that they are always with me, everywhere I go and in everything that I do. Jack has helped me understand that by moving through my grief in a positive way it allows my loved one to send me messages so I KNOW that they are still here with me, they are just gone from my sight but will always remain in my heart and my memories because love is eternal and can never die! This is a very powerful book with a powerful message for anyone with an open mind that wants to find a positive way to move forward and I highly recommend it to all. Thank you Jack and Kate for saving me when I thought all hope was lost! Xxx

This book is amazing. I purchased it a few days after we put our baby, Duke, to sleep. Duke was my everything. My husband traveled a lot, and so I was alone a lot before we got Duke. Once Duke came into our lives, our whole world changed. Duke was my best friend, my walking buddy, my bed partner (LOL). Duke followed me everywhere, and I talked to him like he was my own child. We moved from coast to coast three times, and he was the one that introduced us to our new friends and neighbors. No one was a stranger to Duke. And he was loved by everyone. I received sympathy cards from our friends on both sides of the US when he passed away... Anyway, I was shattered but I knew enough to know I needed to read this book... I needed some healing. There is something about connecting with a dog... when you know each other's souls so well... that can't be described - unless you are Jack McAfghan. Jack helps heal your broken heart from a beloved dog's perspective. You will cry a little. You will laugh a little. You will think about your fur buddy being gone in a new way... They aren't really gone. They are love - and love knows no boundaries, not living or dying. If you have been loved and given love - it doesn't go away. Thank you Jack, for easing my pain and sorrow. Tell Duke HI for me, and I will see you both someday.

Every other book I have read by our canine companions has been a humorous look at their human counterparts. Jack McAfghan can be humorous, but he is wise beyond his years and his reflections on his fellow canines and humans are spot on. His message is unconditional love, and complete understanding for others. I put this book right up there with "All I really need to know I learned in Kindergarten". (Robert Fulghum) Jack sees the "oddities" of humans, and how these characteristics can affect others, human or otherwise. Jack's reflections on life and perceived loss are a beautiful way to look at life on life's terms, and living in the moment, a day at a time. This book is uplifting and simple, the way life should be.

This is a MUST HAVE for anyone who has lost a beloved pet. The messages are clear and after 7 months of grieving I have finally begun to heal. I do still grieve but I understand a lot more since reading this book. I highly suggest you buying it if you have lost a pet. It is written by Kate McGahan but told through her dog Jack. 1/31/2016: I am now adding to my first review because I have purchased 12 more books. I plan on giving them to vet clinics, hospitals, and crematories. Anyone who has lost a beloved pet knows that you usually get a sympathy card. How great would it be to get a book that actually helps you heal? A card is just words which provides no healing. This book provides the healing that is needed for those that are grieving. This book has helped hundreds in the past 6 months alone. Give yourself or someone you love who has lost a pet this book of healing and moving forward. I lived with the loss of my soulmate alone and grieving until I got this book. My life has changed in a positive way and I will make it my mission to get it to as many people I can because I know how powerful Jack's message is.

Jack..what an amazing boy. When I lost Kona this week, my heart shattered into one million pieces. Kona was my best friend, my entire heart. He was one of my children. We weren't expecting him to leave us yet. We didn't notice he was turning grey, until he was already there. We didn't notice him rapidly slowing down until it already happened. He never let us know he was hurting until he could not go anymore. When I read Jack's story, I saw my story almost to every detail. I laughed, I cried, I sobbed, then I had hope and peace. I still have Kona with me because the incredible bond between him and I. Jack gives us all the hope we could wish for when we lose our babies. I am thankful that this book found me when it did. I wish I would have known my time was getting short with him, but it's funny how our "dogs" because they are way more than that, are so selfless when it comes to us. He protected my heart for 11 years and through Jack, he is still doing that for me. Love you Kona Bear.
